

NAHS artists lead with creativity, character, and care. Your voice matters — share it.

As a National Art Honor Society member, you use your creativity to inspire others and strengthen your school community. The #CreateConnectCare Challenge is your chance to use your artistic voice to support mental health, challenge stigma, and show what leadership through art looks like.

“Hello, it’s me. Messy, exhausted, and perpetually imperfect. I wanted to capture a raw moment of my life, unedited and uncensored. Through my piece, I hope to counter that distorted reality of perfection presented by social media and reinforced by the attitudes of many of my peers. Sometimes, what we need the most is to take a moment to recharge, sit with our feelings, and be a mess.
